

APPARATUS FOR PROCESSING PHOTOGRAPHIC MATERIALS

ABSTRACT OF THE DISCLOSURE

1 An apparatus for processing photographic materials has
2 at least one photographic processing station enclosed in a
3 housing. The housing and the processing station are each
4 independently mounted through their own oscillation-damping
5 connections to a common support base, so that any connections
6 between the housing and the processing station run exclusively
7 through the common support base.

(Fig.)